Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library Now Available in Nottoway County

Charlottesville, Virginia (10/17/2022) – QuickStart Tennis of Central Virginia, Inc. (QCV) is thrilled to report a new chapter of Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library (DPIL) has been started in Nottoway County, bringing the total to 46 chapters in Virginia, with 16 of those in QCV’s service area. We have 12 more to go.

QCV’s QuickStart Coordinator Lynda Harrill says, “We’re filling in the blanks in our service area. In November 2020, there were two QCV counties (Henry and Pittsylvania) with DPIL chapters. Today there are 16. We’ve got another six in process and six more to go. It’s different in every county. We first have to find a local ‘spark plug’ to lead the charge and then find a 501(c)(3) organization to partner with the Dollywood Foundation. (In Nottoway we found that via Jackie Zataweski, the Library Director for the Nottoway County Public Library System, which has three branches.) We then help create a local advisory committee of six to ten individuals who believe in the benefits of early childhood education and want to support the program. Then the advisory committee identifies potential funding sources and sets a goal to raise the first three years’ costs. That allows them some ‘breathing room’ to publicize the program, enroll kids and become familiar with the tools and resources DPIL provides.”

“The chapter in Nottoway was made possible by the three Friends of the Library organizations that came together to fund the start up. We look forward to seeing them enroll most of the 780 kids under age 5 who live in the county.”
