QCV Named CTA of the Year by Racquets Sports Industry

Charlottesville, Virginia (12/13/2021) – QuickStart Tennis of Central Virginia, Inc. (QCV) is thrilled to report Racquets Sports Industry (RSI) has named QCV as its National CTA (Community Tennis Association) of the Year and a Champion of Tennis for 2021.

Per RSI Magazine’s January 2022 issue: QuickStart Tennis of Central Virginia focuses on youngsters in underserved communities in central and southside Virginia. In the 30 [now 31] communities it serves, QCV’s goal is happy, healthy, active and literate children. When COVID hit, QCV quickly realized the challenges it presented when it comes to access to healthy activity, nutrition and education, so it launched “Racquets for Reading!!!” which paired tennis with literacy and nutrition. A goal was to build “home libraries” for kids to improve reading skills and scores and to build awareness for nutrition.

During the 2020-2021 school year, QCV distributed six to eight books per student to more than 2,800 disadvantaged and at-risk kids. Tennis and reading are a dynamic duo to QCV because they both are skills that have a lifelong impact. “QuickStart Tennis of Central Virginia is well-deserving of recognition as RSI’s Community Tennis Association of the Year,” says Alex Chan, Associate Director of Community Services at USTA Mid-Atlantic. “They invest in their community, championing tennis and making it accessible to as many people as possible.” – Mikiya Ellis-Glunt, Marketing and Communications Coordinator USTA Mid-Atlantic, in RSI Magazine.

QCV President Alina Ackenbom adds, “On behalf of QCV board I would like to thank RSI for naming QCV the Community Tennis Association of the Year. When the pandemic started and QCV wasn’t able to deliver tennis to children in person, QCV’s board continued to brainstorm ideas and look for ways to serve the community. This is when our “Racquets for Reading” initiative was born. So far, we’ve reached 5,100+ preschoolers and kindergartners in 19 different school systems. Delivering books to students not only helped increase children’s knowledge and reading skills but also kept them connected to tennis and the volunteers who worked with them before the pandemic. This award represents resilience and commitment of everyone who was willing to adapt, think outside of the box and find new ways to stay connected with children through the sport of tennis. Even though it was a tough year due to the pandemic, QCV was able to continue pursuing its mission of putting a smile on each face, this time with a book in each hand!”
